and caregivers. In
my artwork, I am
nursing people, too.”

VALENTINO BIANCO
ALEXIAN BROTHER

Michelangelo, El Greco, Brother Valentino Bianco—three artists with a common belief that art can uplift. The third one, of course, isn't in the textbooks. But that doesn't mean his work hasn't made an impact. Brother Val believes that a divinely designed stained glass window or painting can help the sick feel calmer, more comfortable. His religious life didn't have an artistic start—just ask him about scrubbing pots and pans as a young Brother. But today, Brother Val has found his own way to minister through the Alexian Brothers. His “good works” have included four-story murals, soaring sculptures and even chapels. Ask him to name the most important tool in his studio and he won't say acrylics or oils—it's prayer. By praying, he's found the right path, one filled with beauty, humor and challenges that still test his talents. To find out more about becoming an Alexian Brother...
